

REVIVAL CONTINUES TO GROW DAILY IN INTEREST

Morning Prayer Meetings In Methodist Revival Proving Interesting and Are Result Bringing.

"Echoes from Eden" was the subject of a stirring message from Evangelist Caffis Tuesday evening. To an over-crowded house Rev. Caffis gave a vivid portrayal of what Adam and Eve lost when they sinned and were turned out of the garden. The closest attention was given by the large audience to the earnest words of the evangelist.

The morning prayer meetings in the various wards were well attended there being all told ninety people in attendance. Splendid reports were made by all captains. The meetings will continue each morning save Saturday and Sunday. The meetings and leaders Wednesday were as follows: First ward, Mrs. Hancock's home with Mrs. O. C. Seavers, leader; Second ward, Mrs. Robt. Mattingly's with Mrs. W. S. Peters, leader; Third ward, at Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh's with Mrs. Duke White, leader; Fourth ward, at Mrs. J. E. McClord's with Mrs. Wiggins, leader; Fifth ward, at Mrs. W. C. Slye's with Mrs. Stallcup as leader; Sixth ward, Mrs. Bruce Snapp's with Mrs. H. N. Drubaker, leader; Hilldale at Mrs. David Alkman's with Miss Grace Crawford as leader. The men's fifteen minute meeting held at the John W. Davidson and Son's paint store.

Services at the church at 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Subject of the evening sermon the "Supreme Challenge." The "booster" club meets at 7 this evening and they are boosting for "one hundred strong." Be a "booster" tonight and catch some of the enthusiasm of this live-wire meeting.

SUIT LONG IN COURT IS FINALLY SETTLED

Litigation Between Lewis County Turnpike Company and C. & O. Railroad Is Settled.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 5. — By decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday the C. & O. Railroad wins finally in the contest with the Vanceburg Turnpike Company, which was seeking to compel the road to continue the paying of taxes for the turnpike intended to connect Vanceburg with Stout's lane in Lewis county. After paying nearly $10,000 as its share toward building the pike the C. & O. had the Federal Court enjoin any further collection on the ground that enough taxes had been collected to complete the work with proper managing and also because the turnpike company had exhausted its right to make further tax levies. The Kentucky Federal Court decided such was the case and the Circuit Court of Appeals approved.

This was one of the oldest cases on the docket of courts in this section. It was begun by the late Judge A. E. Cole thirty years ago and at his death was taken up by his son, Hon. A. D. Cole, who has been in the case for many years, through many courts. The railroad company was represented at the institution of the suit by the late W. H. Wadsworth, later by Wadsworth and Cochran, and when Judge Cochran went upon the Federal bench by Worthington, Cochran & Browning. The railroad company was represented at its conclusion by Worthington, Browning & Reed.

OPENING CONCERT OF CARDINAL BAND ON EASTER SUNDAY

Opening concert dates for both the Cardinal and the Horseshoe Bands were announced Wednesday by Colonel J. Harboun Russell, manager. The Cardinal band will play its first public concert of the season at the band stand in Market street on the afternoon of Easter Sunday, April 16th, at 2 o'clock. This band has some splendid surprises for the public. During the winter months they have been keeping up their practice regularly and they have a repertoire of numbers of the highest type. Not only popular airs but old classics have been mastered during the past winter which they can render with the skill of the veterans. The Horseshoe Band will play its opening concert in the band stand on the night of April 20th—opening ball day—at 7:30 o'clock. The Horseshoe Band has not been hibernating during the winter months either and they will render a program that will surprise and please the public. Following these opening concerts regular concerts at the band stand will be resumed for the summer months, weather permitting. There have been many solo artists developed during the winter and some of these will be heard from time to time during the season in masterpieces. Remember the dates of the opening concerts and be certain to attend.

RIVER PARADE TO BE A FEATURE OF GRANT CELEBRATION

Plans Being Made for Cardinal Band To Make Music and Meet President Harding, His Cabinet and General Pershing.

A parade of river vessels is being planned as a part of the Grant Centenary Celebration to be held at Point Pleasant on April 27, according to announcement by the Centenary Committee, of which former Chief Justice Hugh L. Nichols is chairman. Three of the largest steamers on the river have been chartered for the occasion and will be decorated with flags and streamers for the occasion. Landing barges at Cincinnati and at Point Pleasant will also be bedecked with flags and bunting.

Marshal Joffre, who is expected to tour the United States during April and May, has been asked to be one of the guests of the celebration. Major U. S. Grant III, grandson of General U. S. Grant, has been appointed special military aide of the President for the day. He also has been named to accompany Marshal Joffre during his visit in this country. Mrs. Frederick D. Grant, widow of Major General F. D. Grant, will accompany President Harding's party from Washington to Cincinnati.

The President has announced that he will not be able to make an address in Cincinnati, as he will be pressed for time. His train will be halted at the Cincinnati dock and he immediately will board the Island Queen, which will be the flagship on the voyage up the river.

The Morning Star will be used by the President's party on the return trip. On both occasions only invited guests will be permitted to board. The Homer Smith running an excursion from Manchester will be the third steamer in the cortege.

President Harding will be met at Cincinnati by the Reception Committee, headed by Charles P. Taft, Governor Henry L. Davis will be Chairmen of the celebration at Point Pleasant.

Officials who were in charge of the broadcasting of the Armistice Day celebrations at Arlington are planning to install transmitting devices at the speaker's stand at Point Pleasant and to install loud speaking telephones in Cincinnati so that many thousands here will be able to hear the President's address.

Detachments of soldiers from the 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, and troops from Ft. Thomas and Indianapolis will take part in the parade. President Harding will not attend the celebration to be held at Bethel on April 28, or at Georgetown on April 29. Major Grant III however will speak at each celebration.

Plans are being made by Colonel J. Harboun Russell to take the Kentucky Cardinal band to the celebration on the steamer Homer Smith to play for the President. Arrangements are being made through Congressman C. C. Kearns, who is a booster for the band, that each member of the band may meet President Harding, the members of his cabinet and General Pershing and Joffre.

The petit jury will report again on Thursday of this week to take up the trial of a number of jury cases.

ABERDEEN SHOWS HER APPRECIATION OF DEPARTMENT

Committee of Aberdeen Business Men Wait on Mayor Samuel Thanking Him for Aid—Present Purse.

A committee of Aberdeen business men waited on Mayor J. H. Samuel at his office at the court house Wednesday afternoon to express to him the appreciation of Aberdeen citizenship for the answer of the local fire department to their call for aid during a fire there Saturday evening. Dr. S. A. Laughlin headed the committee and presented a purse of sixty-five dollars contributed, in small amounts, by most every citizen in the town of Aberdeen. Mayor Samuel explained that Maysville sent her department to extinguish the blaze as a neighborly act and could not accept any payment from her neighbor. The committee explained that the money could not be returned to those who donated as there were many.

The fund was left with Mayor Samuel and will be disposed of by City Council.

S. S. VISITATION DAY PROVES SUCCESSFUL

County Organization Is Given Hearty Co-operation at Beginning of Sunday School Drive.

The second annual "Visitation" day conducted by the department of administration of the Mason County Sunday School Association, Mr. Elmer T. Kirk, superintendent, was made last Sunday with great success. Practically every Sunday school in Mason county was visited and spoken to by a representative from the association. Excellent reports came from all directions. The visitors enjoyed the work and the schools were delighted with the visitors and the work of the Sunday school was boosted as never before. The Go-To-Sunday-School-Day campaign may be said to be well under way now. The executive committee meets Wednesday evening with Vice President Miss Ella Wallace to complete arrangements for the campaign from now 'till May 7th. The visitation was made without cost to the association but to the very great kindness of the owners of automobiles. Their names are given with the assurance that their kindness is greatly appreciated and they are fully entitled to their share of the success of the day. The following persons furnished machines: J. Len Reese, T. F. Galther, Thos. F. Wallace, J. A. Hill, Forest R. Cobb, Geo. H. Scott, Geo. W. Royce, Colvert and Buckley and J. L. Markwell.

THE TREATY IN THE SENATE

Good for President Harding! In respect to the ratification of the pending treaties he refuses "to lobby, trade, supplicate or administer" in order to have them ratified. He did the best he knew how for the country in negotiating the treaties. The Senate must ratify or refuse to ratify according to the judgment of its own members. The responsibility is now up to them. They must do what they please and accept the consequences, good or bad.

The American people, the British, the French and the Japanese want peace in the Far East. There will be no peace and no cessation of preparation for war except as the result of some agreement to do or not to do certain things. Such agreements can be made only through their governments. They can be reached only through negotiations. In negotiating no government can expect to have everything its own way. No government did at Washington. We did not.

But what was accomplished there was a distant gain. It was the longest step ever made toward the final ending of war. The governments and the peoples of all countries except our own are ready to ratify. The American people are ready. The President is ready. The majority of the Senate is ready. If the treaties are not ratified by us, they will fail entirely. We shall then be right back where we were before the conference met.

If a small number of senators have the power to prevent ratification and choose to exercise it, the responsibility will be up to them. And for some of them there is an election due next November and their constituents can then decide whether they prefer unchecked chaos, slaughter and taxation to such steps toward better conditions as the treaties now before the Senate provide. — San Francisco Chronicle.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL

Immediately after the roof of the Knickerbocker Theater in Washington, D. C., caved in under its weight of snow last Saturday night a man who was standing outside of the building went into a telephone booth and told "Central" what had happened. The telephone girl did the rest.

This girl realized the situation, communicated the information to other members of the office force, and within ten minutes seventy-two physicians residing in the Columbia Exchange district, where was located the theater, were told of the disaster; every hospital and first aid agency in the city was notified, a report was made to the War Department and to the municipal government offices, and the work of rescue and of relief was almost instant.

In France the telephone girl proved her courage and resourcefulness in war. She had proved it long before under other conditions of emergency and of peril. In floods, in famine, in fire and in riots the telephone girl has showed the stuff that is in her.

We fear that we do not always remember these things in our daily communications with Central. Sometimes, however, when we do think of them we are sorry that we have blamed the telephone girl for annoying things beyond her control, such as the fact that the telephone of a friend is busy when we want to talk to him, and that perchance we were given the wrong number when the fault lay not with the telephone girl's keenly attuned ear but with our own mumbling manner of speech. We hope by this inadequate tribute that we have made amends for a somewhat frequent use of hasty but really unmeaning words. — Chicago Evening Post.

KERNEL OF ANSWER OF AMERICA DECLINING TO SIT IN GENOA CONFERENCE

(Extract from note of Secretary of State Hughes to Italian Ambassador Ricci, declining to participate in European conference at Genoa.)

I regret to inform Your Excellency that, as a result of this examination, it has been found IMPOSSIBLE TO ESCAPE THE CONCLUSION THAT THE PROPOSED CONFERENCE IS NOT PRIMARILY AN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE, as questions appear to have been excluded from consideration without the satisfactory determination of which the chief causes of economic disturbance must continue to operate BUT IS RATHER A CONFERENCE OF A POLITICAL CHARACTER IN WHICH THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES COULD NOT HELPFULLY PARTICIPATE. THIS GOVERNMENT CANNOT BE UNMINDFUL OF THE CLEAR CONVICTION OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, while desirous, as has been abundantly demonstrated, suitably to assist in the recovery of the economic life of Europe, THAT THEY SHOULD NOT UNNECESSARILY BECOME INVOLVED IN EUROPEAN POLITICAL QUESTIONS.

GREAT MEN BUT POOR PROPHETS.

"There is a madman proposing to light London with—what do you suppose?—why with smoke?"

That's what Sir Walter Scott wrote to a friend when it was first planned to light London with gas. Napoleon said it was "a great folly."

One hundred years ago people were afraid of gas and thought it to be the work of the devil. Later when Westminster Bridge was lighted with gas people thought the pipes were filled with fire and watched the spectacle dumb-founded. When a lighting system was installed in the House of Commons the members of Parliament, fearful of being burned, would not touch the pipes with ungloved hands.

But that was a hundred years ago. Today there are 1,200 uses for gas, and it takes sixty thousand miles of street mains to deliver the gas of the country to its consumers. Forty-five million people in homes and factories are now served with gas.

"A Year of Harding" stands for sober achievements in national and international life so many and important that the record is without parallel in the history of the past. — St. Louis Times.

UNCLE TED'S

BED-TIME STORIES.

"Run, run, run," yelled Jack at the top of his voice as Ruth was doing her best to get to third base in the first baseball game of the season the kids had a chance to play. "Ah shucks," said Jack as Ruth was put out. "Why don't you run faster, you had plenty of time. That's the trouble of having girls playing ball."

"Oh, I don't know," replied Ruth. "I guess I know as much about baseball as you do. Just because Tom and Fred are better hitters than you is no fault of mine. Tom will beat Babe Ruth some day the way he knocks that ball across the street every time, almost."

"Well, well," it was Uncle Ted arriving on the scene. "Spring sure is here according to the looks of things around here. It is getting pretty dark though, and I think you kiddies had better trot on in."

It wasn't long after, when balls, bats and gloves were put away, dinner over and Uncle Ted was helping his chums get ready for slumberland.

"You know," said Uncle Ted. "I find in talking to people in different parts of the country since the Senate passed the Four Power treaty, that there is a remarkable feeling of admiration and respect for our President and the things he has accomplished through his ability as a leader. It seemed too bad that after such big, brainy men as Secretary of State Hughes, Senator Lodge, Mr. Root and Senator Underwood worked night and day in the interests of their country anyone should for one minute believe that there could have been any secret agreements or arrangements that would have worked against the United States. There was not a bit of evidence that these men had entered into any understanding whatever except what had been clearly set forth in the treaties and the vote not only vindicated them but placed President Harding's prestige as a leader higher than it has been at any previous time. However, he is not the type of man who acquires his leadership by force. This treaty victory, the result of months of effort on the part of the President and his advisors, is only one thing that marks Mr. Harding's particular kind of leadership. The thinking citizens of the country realize that the President's leadership is one of co-operation not of force."

"We have had leadership by force in the White House and we have seen the results of it. The results are still with us. Leadership by force versus leadership by co-operation. Which is better?"

"I don't know," said Jack. "Let me put it this way. Harding leadership versus Wilsonian leadership. Republican leadership versus Democratic leadership. The proof of the better kind is easily shown in the result. When President Harding has a plan, an idea that he believes will be of benefit to the country, does he say: 'Here is my plan. It is mine and mine alone. It must go through just as I have presented it any anyone opposing it will be held accountable. It must not be changed one bit?'"

"You bet he doesn't," said Jack. "No, Jack, President Harding has shown all along that he wants to keep his hands off the two legislative bodies as much as possible. Let us look at the results. The only way I can bring home my point strongly to you is to compare the two great treaties that have been presented to the United States Senate within the past few years. First of all Woodrow Wilson. Instead of sending any big men to represent the United States at Paris, went himself. That was a mistake. There was too much to be done here. Second, he ignored the Republican party in the selection of delegates to Paris. When he returned to Washington with the treaty he said to the Senate: 'Here is the treaty. It must not be changed. Ratify it as it is.'"

"When President Harding conceived the idea of a great conference to try to bring the world nearer peace he consulted many men from both big parties. He finally selected four men to represent the United States, one of them a Democrat. He trusted them."

He recognized their abilities. When the conference was ended they reported the results to him. He took the report, and said to the Senate: 'Here is the plan submitted by the representatives of our government which you are asked to submit with your approval. What is your pleasure?' That left it to the Senate. The Paris treaty caused months and months of argument without result. The Four Power and limitation of armaments treaties passed in short order, the result of leadership by advice and co-operation versus the leadership of force and demand.

"We should be mighty thankful that our President is wise enough to accept advice on what he thinks should be done. To demand or use the big stick over Congress would be the most dangerous thing that could happen. Oh, my! Look at Ruth, gone to sleep on our hands, Jack. Well, see you in the morning. Good-night."

HIKING ON CRUTCHES FOR A JOIL.

Much that is distressing naturally comes before the President's Conference on Unemployment, which Main-tains a working committee in Washington to wrestle with that problem of industrial depression. Colonel Arthur Woods, formerly Police Commissioner of New York City, is its chairman.

"One of the saddest stories that has reached me," said he, "was told by Captain Ralph Perkins, of Cleveland, Ohio, Director of the Welfare Department there."

"In his automobile one day he overtook a one-legged man hobbling along a country road on crutches and offered him a lift. As they chatted, the man in crutches told Captain Perkins that he had just walked from Albany to Toledo, looking for a job that he had heard about. 'But it wasn't there,' he said, bitterly, and I am walking back from Lake Erie to the Hudson."

"The jobless cripple told Captain Perkins that he was a cigar roller but there seemed to be no demand for his services, even though he had offered to work for less than union wages and roll cigars for a quarter of a cent apiece."

It is to remedy such a state of affairs that the President's Conference on Unemployment is working. Its experts find that there is a business depression about every ten years, and they hope to devise some means to ward it off, or at least minimize its bad effects before another decade rolls around.

MORE WOMEN NEEDED IN POLITICS, SAYS HYGIENE HEAD

More women in politics and more activity among women in handling their community problems was the demand made on the General Federation of Women's Clubs by Dr. Valeria H. Dr. Parker, though located in voteless Washington, still maintains her residence in Hartford, Connecticut for voting purposes. "Women must have courage to fight the vast network of interests which form the vice rings in every city," said Dr. Parker. "The fight is made in politics. Only when women get actively interested in politics as it relates to their daily lives do they realize what power lies in their votes."

To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate its work. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in Maysville. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now give confirmed testimony—declare the results have lasted. How can any Maysville sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. W. A. Schatzmann, 605 East Second street, Maysville, gave the following statement November 15, 1916: "From the benefit I have derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills I have every reason to recommend them to anyone. Whenever my kidneys have been irregular in action or I have suffered with a weakness or lameness through the small of my back I have used a box or so of Doan's and they have always proven sufficient to cure the complaint quickly."

On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Schatzmann said: "Doan's Kidney Pills certainly do all that is claimed for them. I recommend them again as I did before when I publicly endorsed them in 1916. Doan's have made a lasting cure for me."

"There are 10,000 people lacking away at the wings and branches for every one who is cutting at the roots of the vicious social conditions which exist in every city. Politics is the soil in which commercialized vice, graft, drug peddling and bootlegging grows. This soil in each community may be sweet and clean, or it may be stony and poor and produce nothing but weeds. It is up to the women of each community to say what kind of a civic garden they wish for their children."

"Vice is 59 per cent. commercialized. It is a simple money-making business for a certain type of degenerate people. The police can stop it if they wish. But public opinion must make them wish. Women can make that public opinion and express it through their vote."

"Women have no right to sit at home wrapped in ignorance they call innocence. I have never known a woman who was not shocked and angered when this veil of ignorant innocence was lifted from her eyes, and commercialized vice in all its sordid trappings was exposed to her view."

"Women's votes will make the police departments apply the laws. They will make the judges enforce the penalties. Women's taxes help pay the bills. They will find out why laws vital to their happiness, welfare and health are not lived up to."

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York — Evidently all a man has to do in regard to this here liquor selling is to tell the truth and look doubtful about it and he can become a millionaire, easily and safely. A rather well-known downtown business man, who lives over in Newark, N. J., after working hours, went over to Canada the other day to buy enough Scotch and rye to keep him and his friends cheerful for many months. He left $10,000 in cash with liquor dealers there, according to the story, and the stuff was to be shipped him in a carload of hay. A few days later, he received a telegram notifying him his "cargo" would reach Newark. The bill of lading called for one carload of hay. He engaged a truck, located his car—and inside he found one hule of hay that was ALL!

The Fine Arts Federation is taking up the cudgels for Frederick MacMonnies' statue of Clive Virtue, about which so much agitation is rising around the City Hall. Robert L. Aitken, President of the National Sculpture, one organization of the Fine Arts Federation, has asked that a meeting of it be called in order that some action may be taken. The controversy involves a question much bigger, Mr. Aitken insists, than whether or not some women and Mayor Hylan like the looks of the young man and the maid strolling under his feet. Objection has been made on the ground that anything which seemed to scorn morals was indirectly scolding their whole sex and that women voters ought to protest. Mr. Aitken, other artists of the city, and large numbers of women who haven't seen fit to take part in the dispute argue that even the most literal-minded passerby knows enough of symbolism to recognize the spirit of the statue and not accept it as a reflection on his sister and mother. "This situation has something bigger and more menacing than the fate of a single work of art, great though it may be," said Mr. Aitken. "It is the question whether, when we have created an Art Commission and given it power, we shall let that power be nullified. Progress in the field of art would be crippled by the establishment of such a precedent. The New York Art Commission passed on this statue both in the sketch and in the final form and approved it. That decision ought to be upheld by the citizens." No question has been raised over the artistic merits of the statue. That is admitted unqualifiedly, even by its opponents.

There are just two cures for the present jazz spirit, according to Laurette Taylor; religion or a job. Give the flapper either one and she will cast aside her insistence upon dancing and frivolous, poy-riding and rousing, all the hours of the day. And Miss Taylor believes that the situation has grown sufficiently serious so that attention ought to be given immediately to seeing that every flapper DOES get one—or both these stabilizers. "Girls expect an actress to approve of frivolity," she said. "They become quite disturbed when I begin preaching to them. But they usually come around to admitting the force of what I say."

Mrs. Harold I. Vogler, of this city, was voted the best-dressed woman aboard the incoming liner Orbita the other day. She had been spending the winter in Switzerland and was still under the influence of skiing, mountain climbing and whatever else one does in Switzerland in the winter, sufficiently to show it in her clothes, which were almost entirely sports costumes.

The term "weaker sex" is a misnomer for women, declares Magistrate Doyle of the Jamaica, Long Island, Police Court. He finds that ninety per cent of the disorderly conduct cases involve women. "The battling sex," he insists they ought to be called, if the experience of a police judge counts for anything.

SOLDIER AID GENEROUS
SAYS COL. C. R. FORBES
Million and Half of Cases Handled During Existence of Present Veterans' Bureau.

Washington, D. C. — That a billion and a half of claims of veterans of the World War have already been handled by the Government in its generous treatment of them is stated by Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau.

With a total expenditure of $1,259,530,724, Colonel Forbes takes the position that this Government has been more liberal with its former soldiers than any other country participating in the conflict. He says: "During the time that the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and the Rehabilitation Division of the Federal Board of Vocational Education were in operation and during the five months of existence of the present United States Veterans' Bureau, 1,418,912 claims have been made by veterans, divided as follows: 456,884 for vocational training, 171,875 for insurance, and 790,153 for death and disability compensation.

"Out of this number a total of 321,767 claims have been allowed by the bureau, while 472,170 have been disallowed. On December 31, 1921, there were 114,975 claims waiting final adjudication. During 1921, 66,637 veterans reinstated their term insurance and 2,677 reinstated their converted policies, making a total of 70,314. During the same period 76,172 converted their war-time insurance, making a total of 339,167 veterans who still term policies, with 259,730 having converted insurance policies, a grand total of 598,997 who are still carrying their Government insurance.

"Since the bureau started operations $981,756,292.69 has been paid in insurance claims—$278,239,146.93 for death and disability on term policies and $3,517,345.45 on converted policies for death and disability claims. During the year the Government received $47,442,993 in premiums and $993,697 was set aside for insurance dividends.

"At the close of the year there were 104,579 veterans receiving vocational education, the bureau reported. Of this number 93,914 were in section 2 training, which carried maintenance pay ranging from $80 to $170 a month, in addition to the tuition, books, supplies, and equipment, and 10,664 veterans were undergoing vocational training in section 3 training, which provides tuition, books, supplies, etc., but no maintenance pay. Since the government undertook the rehabilitation work, it was reported, 119,831 men and women have been placed in section 2 training and 17,187 in section 3.

"According to the medical division report, 28,687 veterans were undergoing hospitalization last December 31, 11,646 being in tubercular hospitals, 8,272 in neuropsychiatric and mental institutions, and 8,769 in general hospitals. Since the creation of the bureau, it was said, 206,039 veterans have received hospital treatment and 1,115,259 medical examinations."

The National Republican Club, of New York, in a resolution to Congress, adds: "The Federal Government maintains numerous and admirably equipped hospitals for the care of the sick and disabled veterans. The Federal Government is now spending large sums at rates ranging from $25 to $135 a month, for compensation to soldiers who are in those hospitals. In every northern state except Maine and Utah comfortable soldiers' homes have been established, toward the maintenance of which the United States Government contributes $120 per year per inmate. The National Government itself maintains 10 splendidly equipped soldiers' homes, scattered over the country from Maine to California and from Wisconsin to Tennessee."

ODD CHORES FOR THE OLD TOWN.

When hundreds of thousands of service men were being demobilized each month after the Armistice, a unique "Spruce-up" campaign was devised by Colonel Arthur Woods, then special assistant to the Secretary of War, to create jobs for ex-soldiers. This idea has been put forth in new form as "Do-it-now," by the President's Conference on Unemployment, which is wrestling with the serious situation confronting jobless civilians, to say nothing of veterans of the war. Colonel Woods, as head of its Emergency Committee, has again stirred up numerous employment committees to seek out and to create odd jobs. Many a municipality has solved its local problem after suggestions along these lines. An illuminating list of chores has been a result — here are some of them:

Fix up that back fence.
Build a sleeping porch.
Cover your splintery floors with hardwood.
Tile the bathroom.
Wall off a play-room in the attic.
Do your plastering and cementing this winter—not next spring.
Take out ashes from the chimney.
Clean the basement.
Whitewash the cellar.
Blend and polish furniture.
Hush hardwood floors.
Repair the steps.
Kalsomine rooms.
Decorate the parlor.
Wash the windows.
Have your clothes pressed.
Tidy up the yard.
Saw wood into kindlings.
Paint the auto.

But the queerest odd job of all comes from Fort Smith, Ark., where the town has inaugurated a rock-pile, on which the unemployed break up big stones into little ones — which odd job, in more prosperous times, is relegated to those who toil in stripes for the community's good.

WEEDS SOMETIMES SMOTHER ALFALFA SEEDED IN SPRING.

Lexington, Ky. — Spring seeding of alfalfa in Kentucky is not as reliable as summer seeding because weeds may prove so troublesome that the crop is smothered, crop specialists at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station has stated in reply to inquiries from over the state. However, on land which is adapted to alfalfa and which is inoculated, the chances of getting a stand by following the methods generally practiced with clover are excellent, it is said.

"This is especially true if a clover seed drill is used and the seeding done as soon as the ground can be worked," E. J. Kinney, said. "The cost of seeding in this way is much less than the cost of summer seeding and the method is well worth a trial. If a failure results, the field can be reseeded again in August. Weeds are apt to be most troublesome in the spring-seeded alfalfa sown without a nurse crop since the weed seeds are near the surface in freshly-worked ground and ready to grow. Early seeding, which gives the alfalfa a start on the weeds, is advisable."

The station workers have succeeded in keeping weeds and grasses out of spring-sown alfalfa but it has been at the cost of large amounts of labor for clipping and cultivation while no hay was obtained the first year. It was added.

In one case on the station farm, where spring-sown alfalfa was completely destroyed by weeds, which could not be controlled, the ground was rebroken and cultivated frequently until the alfalfa was seeded in August. The crop was comparatively free of weeds for three years and produced an average of a little more than one and one-half tons of hay an acre in each cutting, it was said.

Public Utility Preferred Stocks

Public utility securities deservedly take high rank in the investment field. Preferred stocks of good companies especially afford many advantages of investment interest to a discriminating purchaser.

We call attention to a Public Utility Preferred stock which has back of it large equities, progressively increasing earning power and has paid regular cash dividends since original issue.

Requirements for payment of these dividends earned more than fifteen times in 1921.

UNUSUAL OPERATION.

Doctors Siler and Smith of this city have in the past few weeks performed a very unusual operation. On March 10 they removed two toes and a finger from the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Wright of this city, the baby having six toes on each foot and six fingers on one hand. On February 28 they performed an operation for appendicitis on the 8-months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Brock, such an operation being almost unprecedented in the annals of the medical profession.—Corbin Times.

HERBS USED IN MEDICINES.

A Manchester, England, paper urges the renewed cultivation of old-fashioned medicinal herbs in English gardens. In the United States they have also gone out of fashion as a feature of the small garden, although they are imported in large quantities from Turkey, India and China, where they are grown purely for commercial purposes, as their medicinal value is recognized by many leading physicians. Tons of medicinal herbs are used annually in the preparation of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most successful medicine for women's ills. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and women afflicted with such ailments should try it.
